

Credit: Sharon Hoogstraten

On the Trail of the Potawatomi

Find the Potawatomi
Dancers in a Village-wide
Scavenger Hunt
for Families with Children
Aged 13 and Younger!

The Potawatomi were the last Native American tribe to live in Wilmette. Images of modern Potawatomi dancers from the Museum's special exhibit "Dancing for My Tribe" are hidden around the Village.

Can you find them?

How to participate

Pick up a FREE scavenger hunt booklet at the Wilmette Historical Museum or the Youth Services Department in the Wilmette Public Library or download from the Museum website.

Complete scavenger hunt at your own pace from June 18 - August 5.

Prizes have been generously donated by

Homer's Ice Cream, Lou Malnati's, Lad & Lassie Shop, Rock House, and Wilmette Bicycle & Sports Shop.

Organized by:

Wilmette Historical Museum

www.wilmettehistory.org